2.00 Thingallor Shrine

A great mage by the name of Wistan was the personal sage and protector of King Rytan. Wistan died soon after the construction of the Thingallor was complete. Despite his death, the guardians Wistan placed within the Thingallor Shrine lived on to fulfill their mission and protect the king's tomb from grave robbers. The guardians have the inherent ability to sense if a person is of the lineage of the late king and allow those of the royal blood to pass. Since the PCs do not have that blood, they are prime targets for the guardians who will attack them on sight.

To form the guardians, Wistan took water from Serpent Lake back to his village. 10 of the most beautiful and sought-after virgins bathed in the water followed by 10 of the most ferocious warriors. The water was then taken to the temple and blessed by priests. Finally Wistan worked his magic and created guardians whose sole purpose was to guard the King Rytan and his ship, the Thingallor, from invaders. The creatures will live forever unless destroyed through combat or by magic.

Each of the water elementals is covered with a decorative lid, the king was buried and thus moved. It takes them a moment to move the room as they have laid down.

Note: There are two elements of four.
